The shooting created great excitement in Ellen's neighborhood and people living close did not venture near her shack until the police had her in charge Two policemen heard the first shot and ran to the place and found Ellen standing in the doorway with a smoking revolver in her hand. While one of the officers was standing in front of her asking her who she killed, Ellen began to twirl the revolver and it went off.

This fifth and last shot created a pan-ic in the crowd which had gathered and many of them took flight. The officers took charge of the revolver in lightning short order after the last shot Ellen was brought to police headquar-ters and engaged in conversation by the official in charge when it was found that she was considerably under the influence of liquor. ABOUT STATE SCHOOL FUND. Representative Hilton Hot Over the Action of Other Committee Topeks, Kan., Oct. 1.—The cimmi-tee which was preparing the report on the investigation of the investments and securities held by the state school fund adjourned Saturday evening until October 15, when it is the intention to meet and complete the report. It was understood that the committee would complete the report before adjourning at this time, but the members did not do so.

Representative B. F. Hilton, one of Representative B. F. Hilton, one of the Populist members of the committee feels that the members present at the session Saturday, Representative Funk of Marion, Tucker of Douglas and Hop-kins of Finney, who also acted for Senator Brown, did not do the proper thing when they agreed to adjourn un-til the 15th. In fact it placed Mr. Hil-ton in such a mood that he said yester-day afternoon: "I have nothing fur-ther to do with the matter and will ther to do with the matter and will leave for my home tonight or tomor-row. I cannot afford to run down here row. I cannot afford to run down here twice a month during the summer. The members of the committee who were here Saturday, as I believed, had agreed to complete the work before going home. However, when train time came, they jumped up and left. They did not take a vote on adjournment, but said they would meet October II." Acting upon his own belief that the committee did not act wisely, Representative Hilton has prepared a copy of the report which he will make as a result of his observations during the session of the committee. He says he will have copies of the report made and forwarded to each member of the committee and they may use their judgment as to signing it. "It is the report I am going to make, anyhow," said Mr.

New York, Oct. 1.-Justice Walsh, in New York, Oct. I.—Justice Walsh, in the Adams street police court, Brook-lyn, yesterday held to await the action of the grand jury Nellie O'Dea, a servant, who pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. In March, 1884, the girl was employed as a servant for Mrs. Carrie A. Co, who lived with a Mrs. Coembs, at 217 Degraw street. Mrs. Coe's son, Charles died on the latter part of March from consumption.

CROKER'S FINE HAND STILL VISI-BLE IN NEW YORK.

otwithstanding All Stories to the Cou Placed at the Head of the Finance Con mittee-What It Means.

New York, Oct. 1.-The selection of John C. Shedhan as chairman of the Tammany Hall finance committe place formerly held by Richard Crok-er-is regarded as only another proof of what well-informed politicians have been saying for months, namely, that Croker has absolute control of the Tammany organization. Sheehan is one of Croker's pets, and when he was slated for the chairmanship nobody dared offer any opposition. He could have been eleted chairman of the com-mittee on organization last month, in place of Henry D. Purroy, but Purroy threatened to leave Tammany Hall if he was displaced, and the Croker guard decided that Sheehan had better withdraw, knowing that they had full con-trol of the committee anyhow. Next to Sheehan's selection the most important feature of last night's meeting of the general committee was the election of Amos J. Cummings, as chair man of the committee on printing in place of ex-Mayor Gilroy. Gilroy made a great effort to get re-elected as the chairmanship of this committee carries with it membership of the executive committee. His failure leaves him out side of the inner circle of Tammany Hall, and the indications are that he will remain there while Croker

As was predicted, some time ago, the talk about Purroy, Martin and Gil-roy as the leaders of Tammany Hall ceased on the return of Croker. The exact situation in Tammany today, ac-cording to the best authorities, is as follows: Croker and Grant, working in harmony, own three-fourths of the members of the executive committee Giroy, with a handful of followers, is on the outside and in a sulien humor. Purroy, backed by six district leaders is fighting to prevent a "freeze-out" is fighting to prevent a "freeze-out" and is distrusted and feared by the Croker crowd. Martin and his few followers are on fairly friendly terms with Croker, and, being useful, are

The enemies of John C. Sheehan, and there are many of them in Tammany Hall, were indulging in a great deal of sarcasm today concerning his election as chairman of the finance committee. ment as to signing it. "It is the report I am going to make, anyhow," said Mr. Hilton, "and it will be eent in whether they sign it or not."

One of the most important things to Mr. Hilton is the fact that the state school fund is out a large sum of money because of the purchase of bonds which have proved to be fraudulent by the state school fund commissioners. To prevent the recurrence of this he recommends that the members of the commission be declared guilty of felony and subject to a fine and imprisonment when they purchase bonds, the name on the chairmanship of the mance committee of Tammany Hall is a peculiar position. The chairman is supposed to receive all contributions, but he does not have to give any account nor does he keep books. Mr. Croker was a comparatively poor man when he became chairman of this commit-

As was expected, the general commit-tee decided last night in favor of the Dalton faction of the Eleventh Dis-trict, and the Delaney men bolted. The latter say they will nominate candi-dates for the senate and assembly. De-lancy says his followers are in a maj-ority in the Eleventh district. If they cannot elect their own candidates, they may be able to defeat the Tammany candidates.

Arrangements for launching the Brooklyn from Cramps' shippard have been about completed, and she will slide off the well-greased ways into the Dela-ware at the ebb tide, which on Wednesday will turn a few minutes past the noon hour. There will be no tickets is-sued, but the gates of the yard will, as usual, be thrown open to the public. The only stand erected will be a small one for the christening party, and which will include Mayor Schieren and several other prominent Brooklynites.

REFORM IN PENMANSHIP. Chirography Shows a Marked Impro

Probably all who have had a com mon school education remember vividly the agonies they suffered during the half hour a day devoted to make ing pot hooks and copying unmeaning purases in their writing books. The same number of unfortunates realize with equal vividness how widely different their own present chirography is from the flowing copy plate which they tried to imitate, with more or less success, in their youthful days. The penmanship of the world has always been far short of the ideal copybook standard, but since the general introduction of the typewriting ma-chine it has grown from bad to worse. The part of the community who have university educations are worse off in this regard than the common school graduates, for the reason that if they ever did write a half-way decent hand as the result of their teacher's stream one efforts, it was coupletely ruined when they began to take notes of lectures at coilege. The world moves, and now the educational experts are arriving at the conclusion that the whole system of instruction in writing is wrong; that ETHICS OF GOOD CLOTHES. the beautiful and elaborate curlycues and intricate shading of the old copy-ly hard to read. The school-teachers have come to a realizing sense of a fact of time formerly spent in elaborating shading and curves, if spent in practicing the modern perpendicular hand, will give four times better results in the way of a mastery of the art, greater freedom in writing and the acquisi-tion of a style which will be legible, even if it departs from regularity.

The same gradual transition has taken place in the art of lettering as practiced by draughtemen. Twenty practiced by draughtemen. I wenty years ago draughtemen and engineers learned elaborate lettering, the rustig style, the old English, and many others, and many weary hours were spent in the draughting-room putting these was in the substitution of plain block lettering of the old style. The making of block lettering, however, is a slow wasted. The next reform was the introduction of the German "runds schrift," which is a species of freehand work done with a special pen, which shades broadly and almost autematic-ally. The "rundschrift" may be put on a drawing with great rapidity, but it requires considerable skill to do it it requires considerable skill to do it well, and the result of poor or medicars work is painful to the eye.

The whole subject of lettering ha now become a lost ark. The draughtsmen to-day doesn't ink his fingers and break his back at anything of the kind. He buys a box of assorted print ed letters on paper or cloth, with wells gummed backs, and when his drawing is done licks the backs of a sufficient number of these letters and affixed them to the drawing after the manner of the humble postage stamp.-N.
